

Egypt, Israel vow to try for peace

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Egypt and Israel pledged an "unequivocal" commitment to continue the Middle East peace process Sunday.

The pledge was made to Secretary of State Alexander Haig, an administration source said.

At the same time, the United States moved to speed up arms deliveries to Egypt and the Sudan.

Egyptian Interior Minister Nabawismail Sunday dismissed as "a complete lie" any "rumors" that gunmen attacked his home in an assassination attempt during the funeral of Anwar Sadat, and he invited reporters to visit his house to "see for yourself."

Haig pledged U.S. help to iron out difficulties that might emerge in the peace process and also to increase support to Egypt "in a more concrete fashion."

Earlier Sunday, Haig, after meeting Egyptian President-designate Hosni Mubarak, referred to Egypt as America's "foremost" friend in the Middle East — a remark certain to cause concern in Israel, referred to in the past as America's strongest ally in the region.

A senior official said the United States was looking for ways to speed up the delivery of military equipment both to Egypt and to its southern neighbor and close ally Sudan, under threat of invasion or infiltration from Libya.

Teams of experts were remaining behind — to negotiate details on weapons deliveries both with the Egyptians and the Sudanese, the official said. In Washington, the State Department said a team of experts was heading toward the Sudan.

The official said Haig also discussed with Mubarak the possibility of enlarging the joint American-Egyptian "Bright Light" maneuvers scheduled for November, including the possibility of sending B52 heavy bombers to Egypt for the duration of the exercises.

The Egyptian publication Mayo, meanwhile, reported agreement has been reached to speed up the delivery of 439 M60 tanks and 48 F16 fighters and surface-to-air missiles.

In Washington, the State Department said a team of experts was headed for Egypt to discuss the maneuvers and another team was headed for the Sudan.

Haig met with President Jassaf Numelry of Sudan, President Slad Barre of Somalia, and Foreign Minister Sayed El-Busaid of Oman.

All three countries are deeply concerned about the threat from Soviet bloc forces in Ethiopia, South Yemen and Libya, a total of 35,000 troops by Egyptian estimate.

Mayo also said bloody fighting between security forces and Moslem fundamentalists in the southern city of Asyut was stopped last Friday only after two air force warplanes buzzed the city and scared the militants off the streets.

In a startling revelation — of the number of casualties, Mayo said 54 policemen were killed in the clashes and more than 100 others were injured. Earlier reports said 20 policemen were killed and 20 injured.

Libyan jets raid Sudanese villages, heighten tensions

By United Press International

Libyan warplanes bombed two Sudanese border villages, killing two women and wounding several other people, Khartoum said Sunday.

Officials warned Tripoli it would defend Sudanese soil and citizens.

"Sudan government and people will not watch with folded arms but will take all the possible measures to ensure the safety of its soil and citizens," the Sudanese Foreign Ministry said in a statement quoted by the Egyptian Middle East News Agency, monitored in Cairo.

The Sudanese charge came as Newsweek magazine revealed in New York that Washington and Cairo were planning to form a joint military commission to coordinate a response to a Libyan attack on the Sudan.

The magazine also said a small number of U.S. troops from the Rapid Deployment Force could join in proposed maneuvers that would airlift Egyptian troops to the Sudan.

The two Libyan jets attacked the villages of Al-Tina and Tandeletti "brutally and ferociously" Thursday while villagers were celebrating the Moslem Feast of Sacrifice, one of the religion's holiest holidays, the foreign ministry charged.

Libya "turned the joy of the feast into a funeral, by killing two women and injuring a number of citizens, including children, women and old men," its statement said.

The Sudanese statement also accused Libyan strongman Col. Moammar Khadafi of fomenting subversive activity against Sudan "in a desperate attempt to realize his dream of building up an empire."

The statement charged Libyan occupation troops in Chad were "launching repeated military operations against Sudanese border villages."

Recognize PLO, say Ford, Carter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Both Jimmy Carter and Gerald Ford believe there can be no real diplomatic advances in the Middle East until the role of the Palestine Liberation Organization is accepted.

Both favor U.S. recognition of the PLO.

Although their remarks on the organization were hedged by some conditions, both men went farther in calling for recognition of the PLO than they ever did when they were in the White House.

In Jerusalem, Prime Minister Menachem Begin's spokesman Uri Porath declined to comment on the interview. "The comment is 'No comment, period,'" Porath said.

In Beirut, the PLO also declined official comment before a complete review of the former president's remarks.

The two former presidents, in an unprecedented joint interview aboard the presidential jet on their way back from the funeral of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, spoke of each other with respect. There was no sign of the rancor that has marked their past political rivalry.

As the reporters left after the interview, both men stood, shook hands and grinned broadly at each other.

The interview, conducted by three pool reporters, centered on the Middle East.

In a commitment made during Ford's administration and reaffirmed during Carter's, the United States pledged not to negotiate with the PLO until the organization formally recognizes Israel's right to exist. U.S. diplomats aboard the plane were visibly perturbed by the two former presidents' remarks about the PLO when they heard them on tape, but there appeared to be broad agreement between the two men on the issue.

Asked if the United States should talk directly to the PLO as Sadat had urged, Ford said:

"At some point that has to happen. I would not want to pick the date today, but in a realistic way that dialogue has to take place... as you go down the road at some point the dialogue has to take place and I think that will happen."

Ford said some negotiations on conditions for recognition of the PLO would be required.

Carter, in answer to the same question, said, "We can't speak for Israel but I think a simultaneous acknowledgment of the PLO and that Israel has a right to exist, and its dealing with the PLO would be certainly something that I favor."

Carter also said, "Many of the PLO leaders are very moderate in abhorring terrorism and violence. I don't see any possibility of the Palestinian

Arizona aerial adventurers land balloon on tiny island

BLACKBEARD ISLAND, Ga. (UPI) — Two Arizona adventurers, undaunted by two previous failures, successfully crossed the United States in a billowing, 10-story helium balloon.

They landed Sunday on a Georgia island so remote it took more than three hours for a rescue boat to find them.

John Shoecraft, 37, and Fred Gorrell, 40, braved upper atmosphere temperatures of 40 below zero to guide their giant "Superchieken III" 2,515 miles from Costa Mesa, Calif., to tiny Blackbeard Island in 55 hours and 25 minutes, said Chris Van Elk from the balloon's flight base in Arizona.

Gorrell said he and Shoecraft leaped from the gondola and "jumped up and down" after a "very smooth" landing.

The biggest reward of the flight is finally making it — "getting a goal we set off to do," said Shoecraft. "I couldn't have imagined a more successful outcome for a coast-to-coast flight to land on the beach."

Gorrell and Shoecraft made the crossing bundled in five layers of clothing, wired up to electric socks and breathing constantly through oxygen masks.

"We were on oxygen all the time," Gorrell said. "You can't eat, sleep, drink or do anything else without oxygen."

They had a small stove to heat tea and dehydrated soup, but ate mostly peanut butter and honey sandwiches.

"Have you ever tried to spread honey at 40 below?" Gorrell asked.

Balloon experts say the flight, which cost the pair an estimated $30,000, is the second across North America, but the first coast-to-coast flight made entirely within U.S. borders.

Maxie Anderson and his son, Kris, of Albuquerque, N.M., are credited with the first traversal of North America for their flight from San Francisco to the eastern tip of Canada in April, 1980.

Blackbeard Island, just 5 miles long and 2 miles wide in some places, is so tiny that it does not appear on some maps and is confused with nearby Sapelo Island, hampering efforts to reach the pilots.

They were not picked up until after noon MDT, when a small private boat carrying some members of the ground crew and reporters spotted them on shore.

Interviews were given and pictures shot, meaning that final word of the balloonists' safe landing did not reach anxious ground crew members at the control center until almost 2 p.m.

Van Elk said almost 40 people on the ground were involved in the balloon flight.

"We're totally elated. They're people here who haven't slept in over 60 hours," he said after the balloon landed. "The champagne is flowing. It's like winning the World Series."

Small staff, heavy load ends Mini-Cassia Women's Line

By LAURIE MASHER
Times-News writer

RUPERT — Females who are the victims of rape or battery will find it harder now to get support in Minidoka and Cassia counties.

Women's Line, an area support group, decided last week to discontinue its services.

Members of the organization say they are overstressed and exhausted, and they hope others in the community will assume their name or corporate status.

"Financing is not a problem, the members say."

"We now have eight volunteers, and we need at least 25," said one member of the group who asked that her name not be used.

"It's a hard decision, and it makes us sad when we think of the 15 to 20 calls we are getting a week, but it's an exhausting thing to be continually exposed to that kind of pain. We need more people so we can rotate in and out of the responsibility," she continued.

It is the group's policy not to publicly reveal volunteers' names, according to one woman.

"I don't want to be beat up in my house tomorrow night by some violent husband who figured out I'm the one who helped his wife," the woman said.

The organization, which previously treated only rape victims, gained more responsibility than it bargained for when it expanded to help battery victims in January, members say.

Special training is needed to treat victims of battery, they say.

"It's too easy for people to just write off a battered woman as someone who doesn't have it together," one woman said. "What people don't realize is that husbands often make it difficult for a woman to leave. Most of them are forbidden to work, see their families or even have their names on the family checkbook."

In order to offer the proper support, people who treat rape victims need to be trained in how to handle law-enforcement officials and court proceedings, members say.

"You need to explain to a victim what's going to happen to them and offer the emotional support the system doesn't give them," said one woman.

Present members of Women's Line say that they would be willing to train others to continue the organization.

"If they could get a group large enough, they could carry on," one member said. "It's not a case where chauvinist cops are killing the organization. We have good community support."

Applicants can contact members by writing: Women's Line, Box 624, Rupert, 83350.

The group will maintain its post office box until April 1.

If no applications are received, the members say they will dissolve their assets and give them to the Idaho Network to Stop Violence Against Women.

The members say they want to provide the area with a chance to continue the program because there is such a demand.

"We still think services are important to victims. We have served victims ranging from 7 to 65, from as far north as Gooding to as far south as the Nevada border," one member said.

Surgeons transplant heart, lungs for 7th time

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Doctors at Stanford Medical Center Sunday transplanted the heart and lungs of a 28-year-old suicide victim into a 40-year-old man in the world's seventh such transplant operation.

Barry Davis, of Redwood City, Calif., underwent a six-hour operation early Sunday, but bleeding later developed in his chest. He was returned to the operating room and surgeons spent two hours placing clamps on blood vessels.

A center spokesman said the patient came out of the second operation "in good condition under the circumstances."

The spokesman said the post-operative bleeding was not abnormal and, even after the clamps were sew, there was still minor bleeding but Davis' doctors were not concerned about it.

Davis' family visited him in the hospital's intensive care unit later in the afternoon. It was the fourth heart-lung transplant at Stanford.

Dr. Bruce Reitz, assistant professor of cardiovascular surgery and head of the Stanford transplant team, said the bleeding was "a source of concern" but not unexpected.

Davis was listed in critical condition after the operation, but his vital signs were stable and no other complications were apparent, Reitz said.

"Transplant patients are routinely listed as critical following the surgery, Reitz said.

Polish commission proposed

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Amid panic over gasoline supplies and warnings of drastic shortages in the coming winter, the Polish government has proposed urgent formation of a mixed government-trade union commission to control food distribution, rationing and price reform.

In other developments, the hardline "patriotic" association called Grunwald, one of whose platforms is anti-Semitism, held a "constitutional congress" in Warsaw Sunday to adopt its program and elect officers. The state news agency PAP said the group claims a membership of 250,000.

Balloon could reduce weight

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Inflating a balloon surgically implanted beside the stomach could help obese people lose huge amounts of weight by tricking the body into thinking it's full, a New York surgeon says.

The experimental surgery called "balloon gastropasty" was described at a scientific exhibit prepared for today's opening session of the 67th annual Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons — the largest meeting of surgeons in the world with 12,000 participating.

Embassy visitor surrenders

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet mechanic who spent four years in a mental hospital drove with a loaded shotgun past startled Soviet guards into the U.S. Embassy compound Sunday. Five hours later he gave himself up to Soviet authorities.

"All is finished," he told Western reporters as he left the embassy. "For the rest of my life I will be in an insane asylum now."

The man identified himself as Boris V. Lesnov.

Stones fans jam Coliseum

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — More than 90,000 fans jammed the Coliseum Sunday to see the Rolling Stones perform for the second time in three days at the stadium.

Police, who made 65 arrests at the first Stones concert Friday, said about the same number of people were arrested Sunday, mostly on narcotics charges.

Lt. Paul Cade said the fans were generally well behaved.

Saboteurs wrecked reactor

LONDON (UPI) — Israeli saboteurs posing as technicians were the real destroyers of Iraq's Osirak underground nuclear reactor last June and Israel's highly-publicized air strike against the installation may have been just a cover for the operation, The Sunday Times said.

Quoting unidentified "Italian technicians" who were helping build the reactor, the newspaper said Sunday "the real damage to the reactor was not caused by the bombers but by a precision job carried out by inside saboteurs, who timed their operation to coincide with the aerial bombardment."

Meese denies provocation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan's top aide Edwin Meese said Sunday the United States is attempting to support its allies in the Middle East without being provocative toward Libya and its leader, Moammar Khadafi.

And in an interview on ABC's "Issues and Answers," Meese flatly denied that the United States is engaged in any sort of an assassination plot against Khadafi, as Khadafi has claimed.

Asked about the reports, he said, "That is not correct. That is not a policy this country would engage in."

taper off in western Idaho. However, the storm has some punch left for southeastern and south-central Idaho, with chilling winds and low daytime temperatures on tap for Tuesday.

A travelers' advisory issued for the mountains of southeastern Idaho remains in effect through today, with wind gusts and heavy snow at higher elevations expected to create hazardous driving conditions. Some snow also likely in the upper Snake River Valley to the east. The extended forecast for the Magic Valley for dry but continued showers. Magic will be in the upper 30s to low 50s. Overnight lows will be in the upper teens to the low 30s.

In Idaho Sunday, the warmest temperature was 52 at Lewiston and Strevell, while Stanley's 30 was the coolest.

Cool daytime temperatures, chilling winds and colder nights will slow hay drying and harvest operations in the Magic Valley this week. Soil temperatures this morning will remain a little above 45 degrees.

Elsewhere in the nation Sunday, the warmest temperature was 55 at Alice and McAllen, Texas, while Montpelier, Vt., reported the coolest, 20 degrees.

Heavy storms deluge Texas with nearly a foot of rain

By United Press International

Heavy thunderstorms dumped nearly a foot of rain on parts of southwest Texas Sunday.

The downpours pushed rivers out of their banks and submerged some rural roads under 15 feet of water. A layer of snow whitened ski slopes of the Sierra Nevada.

The heavy Texas rains — the latest of a series of deadly deluges since last spring — began falling early in the morning in the sparsely populated ranch country of Edwards Plateau and the Hill Country. About 10 inches had fallen by mid-afternoon.

Some rural roads were submerged under 15 feet of water but there were no evacuations and no injuries reported.

The National Weather Service reported flooding of the headwaters of the Dry Den River, South Llano River, West Nueces and Nueces Rivers and creeks leading into those rivers.

"We're high up off the ground. If it flooded, everybody else would be long gone," said Edwards County Sheriff Don Bates in Rock Springs. "The area is sparsely populated and consists basically of ranches. There is no danger to property or lives."

Val Verde County reserve Deputy Richard Agee in Del Rio said outlying roads were covered with water but there were no major problems in town.

"We have water in some of the back ranch roads that's 10 to 15 feet over the roads," he said. "It spreads out as much as a mile in some areas."

Sportsmen in fishing camps along the Devil's River were advised "to leave the area before they got trapped in," Agee said.

Twenty-one people were killed last spring in south-central Texas flooding, including 13 in a Memorial Day weekend storm that dropped a foot of rain.

Travelers' advisories were posted for blowing snow in Sierra Nevada passes. Up to 2 inches of snow fell on some areas and another 2 inches was expected by this morning.

Snow fell on Utah's Wasatch range, putting a powder-base on ski resorts. A winter storm watch was posted for the mountains of western and northern Wyoming and over western Montana.

world — and the Arab world — of acknowledging any other leadership for the Palestinians other than the PLO."

Carter laid part of the blame for the current stalemate in the Middle East negotiations on the Israelis and their policy of installing new settlements in the occupied West Bank.

While also blaming the reluctance of the PLO and the Syrians to take part in the peace negotiations, Carter said the lack of progress is "primarily because of the settlement policy on the part of Israel and the difficulty with East Jerusalem."

Israel has announced its intention to permanently annex East Jerusalem, which has been occupied militarily by Israel.

Carter also said the chief mistake made at the 1978 Camp David conference was in failing to involve "more deeply the Saudis and at least the Jordanians."

Describing King Hussein of Jordan as "the weak leader of a weak nation," he said Hussein had been persuaded "by the pressure of the Arab world" not to take part in the negotiations.

Both former presidents were blunt in their hostility to Moammar Khadafi of Libya.

Carter described Khadafi as "the only leader in the world that I know (who) condones terrorism... In some ways (Khadafi) is subhuman."

Aides on AWACS: 'If we don't sell, someone else will'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three top aides to President Reagan tried a different approach to the AWACS controversy Sunday.

All contended if the United States doesn't sell fancy radar planes to Saudi Arabia, someone else will.

The argument, apparently aimed at opposition to the sale based on fears it would jeopardize Israel's security, was raised in separate interviews by Secretary of State Alexander Haig, White House counselor Edwin Meese and national security adviser Richard Allen.

Each man conceded the $8.5 billion military hardware package faces tough going in Congress — but both Meese and Allen predicted victory for the president's plan to sell the Airborne Warning and Control Systems aircraft to the Saudi monarchy.

They also stressed the sale is important to assure U.S. allies and moderate Arab states of the American commitment to stability in the Middle East.

RICHARD ALLEN
...confidence in Senate

In order to block the sale, both houses of Congress must vote against it. It seems certain the House will veto the deal, but the administration claims it is gaining ground in the Senate in the wake of the assassination of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

Haig, appearing on NBC's "Meet the Press," said there is a "very tough struggle ahead" over the deal.

But the secretary, interviewed by satellite from Cairo, said, "The fundamental reality is, it's not a question of whether we shall sell the AWACS to Saudi Arabia, but who will sell them."

Although Haig did not specify the Saudi's alternate source, Britain has made no secret of its willingness to sell its Nimrod early warning planes to the Saudis.

Allen, questioned on CBS' "Face the Nation," said a Saudi purchase of Nimrods would be a blow to U.S. interests. He noted part of the AWACS proposal calls for the Saudis to share security information with the United States.

But Allen, the White House point-man in the AWACS effort, said, "I am optimistic ... when the final vote is taken, the sale in fact will be approved."

Meese, Reagan's No. 1 aide, was interviewed on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

"There is no question it is still an uphill fight," he said, but added, "I think when the Senate votes, it will not defeat" the agreement.

Meese said it is essential for the United States to work with moderate Arab states and Israel in military arrangements to preserve the peace and fend off Soviet interference in the Middle East.

"If we are not able to go forward with this transaction ... it would substantially weaken prospects for peace in that area," he said.

If the Saudis turned to the British Nimrod, he warned, "All the safeguards we have built in, plus our efforts to work with the Saudis, would be lost."

The AWACS battle in Congress has come down to a numbers game in Senate — the House is expected to pass a resolution Wednesday disapproving the sale that includes five AWACS as well as missiles, flying tankers and special fuel pods for 62 F-15s already sold to the Saudis.

Nixon tours Jeddah port

JEDDAH, Saudi Arabia (UPI) — Former President Richard Nixon spent Sunday resting and touring the port city of Jeddah following meetings with King Khaled and Crown Prince Fahd.

U.S. Embassy personnel in Jeddah said Nixon was in the kingdom as a private citizen and the Reagan administration had not arranged his schedule.

Mohammad Nasser, a protocol officer handling Nixon's visit, said the former president spent most of Sunday relaxing and had no formal meetings.

He toured the city and Jeddah's massive Red port, Nasser said. Nixon, who arrived in Saudi Arabia Saturday, is on a private visit and is a guest of the kingdom. He flew to Jeddah from Cairo where he attended the funeral of slain Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

Nasser said Nixon was expected to remain in the kingdom until Tuesday or Wednesday.

From Saudi Arabia, Nixon goes to Jordan, Tunisia and Morocco, before returning to the United States Oct. 19.

AWACS and more needed in Mideast

The death of Egypt's Anwar Sadat has placed new importance on the sale of sophisticated American radar-warning planes to Saudi Arabia.

Because of the instability that may now wrack the Mideast, the United States more than ever needs to improve its defenses of the Persian Gulf. Since it is stated in American foreign policy that the gulf will be protected, the sale of the AWACS would enhance significantly that capability.

Unfortunately, even with Sadat's death, the foes of the sale in the U.S. Senate don't see it that way.

It may well be that the government following Sadat into power will continue to have close ties to the United States. But it also is expected that Arab powers seeking to undo the Egyptian-Israeli peace plan will exert new pressures on President-elect Hosni Mubarak.

Mubarak is not another Sadat. He may be influenced by stronger ties to Egypt's Arab brothers. If that is the case, America's position in the Mideast stands to be eroded, not strengthened.

The United States stands to be dealt a double blow if the Senate prevails and rejects the AWACS sale. It will jeopardize relations with the Saudis. Without such support, America will have little capability to react to any further Persian Gulf threats.

The Saudis have made concessions on the sales agreement, including allowing U.S. military personnel aboard the flights for a number of years. But it would be unreasonable to ask them to guarantee unlimited access.

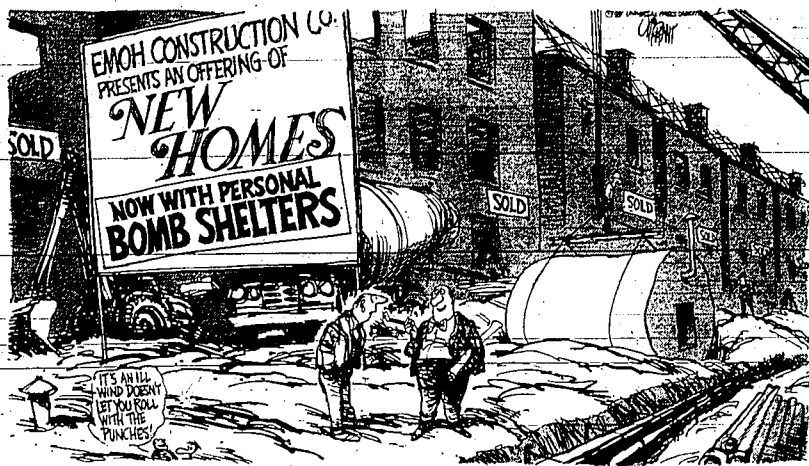

It also has been revealed, in deference to fears that the equipment might fall into the wrong hands, that the AWACS technology being offered the Saudis is of 1960s vintage. Although Senate foes belittle this, the technology still is good enough to give the Saudis and the United States an edge.

Those in the Senate who would vote to kill the sale can't ignore the Mideast's history of flash-fire upheavals. It happened again with Sadat. Add that to the conflagration in Iran and the continued Iran-Iraqi war and there is great cause for concern.

While there is a great deal of concern for building up American defenses to counter the feared first-strike nuclear capabilities of the Soviets, that concern has clouded the danger of Russia's ability to wage smaller-scale wars, such as the one in Afghanistan. More AWACS in the Mideast protecting the gulf could deter Russian Soviet moves.

A Reagan administration defeat on the radar planes issue would deal it a serious foreign policy setback at a time when it desperately needs to show the world it will back up its allies and meet its foreign policy commitments.

Given all these possibilities, the Senate not only ought to confirm the sale of the AWACS to the Saudis but to look at other ways of strengthening America's Mideast hand as well.

Our preoccupation with 'war'

© Washington Post Writers Group

BOSTON — I don't know how Jimmy the Greek would figure the odds, but Americans are wagering there'll be a war.

Two out of three of us believe it is likely — very likely, somewhat likely — that we'll be involved in a war in the next few years.

The poll taken last week, even before Sadat was killed, didn't say exactly what kind of war we expect nuclear or conventional, here or over there — but it chronicled the march of our — darkest expectations. Fifty-nine percent in February, sixty-eight percent in October.

The figures occupied just a small piece of space in the paper. They were not accompanied by alarm bells, or even surprise. Rather, the opinion was gathered and greeted with the emotion of a people already numbed for war.

It's possible that our current attitude is short term, that it peaks now because of all the war talk, the war charts, the war papers that have become standard issue from a Defense Department trying to sell us a new outfit of nuclear weapons. Their checklists of "Us Against Them," "Ours Against Theirs," are written as if the United States and Russia were already in combat. If the enemy is here, can the war be far behind?

But it's also possible that this expectation of war grows out of causes more permanent than the current defense of Defense, even the current crisis in the Middle East. It may come rather from this long-term deepening pessimism about the possibility of any lasting peace, ever.

Once there was a generation that believed in wars to end all wars. The very phrase is now a symbol of the deadly scam of World War I. Today we have a generation that believes in a war to end all life.

Once there was a generation that saw a line of progress in history. Today we have a generation that looks back and sees ever more destructive cycles. We see centuries pulsating with war and peace, war and peace.

Like history students who study human saga using war as the highlight, the timeline, the climax of each era — peace seems sometimes, in our despair, like nothing more than the setup for another war.

So today we even wonder whether there is an intrinsic flaw in the human character, whether we are all like nursery-school children who keep building towers and destroying them to build and destroy again.

This season, I know very few people who think Russians or Americans can win a nuclear war. But I know many who fear we could wage one. "We are living," said Eugene Rostow, "in a pre-war and not a post-war world." The most dangerous aspect of our deepening depression is that it comes now with a sense of impotence.

Sixty-eight percent of us — an enormous number — may expect war, but few of us want it. Still we feel defeated in the face of "forces for war." So, a potential peace constituency is trapped by a self-fulfilling belief in its powerlessness.

Not all of us are paralyzed by what Dr. Helen Caldicott calls this "psychic numbing." Some people have broken through by joining the new peace groups of the nuclear age, from Physicians for Social Responsibility to the Committee for National Security. Others have begun by shattering the illusions of "survivability." In Cambridge, Mass., the city leaders have taken funds allotted for the myth of civil defense and used them for educational projects for "waging peace."

Still others are trying to shake young people out of their fatal futility by teaching them how people make decisions, how people make a difference. In a pilot project, called Facing History and Ourselves, students in Brookline, Mass., and elsewhere are taught about the Holocaust, the Armenian genocide and nuclear war. They learn that crises are not merely the result of these "forces," but of decisions people make — including the decision to stand by passively, expecting and experiencing the worst.

But most of us are still passive. It's always hard to think about the unthinkable. It's hard even to give up the sense of fate and exchange it for struggle.

Sights, sounds, scents of autumn

© Universal Press Syndicate

SCRABBLE, Va. — The Professional Wine Tasters of October concluded their annual meeting here a few days ago, and emerged with a unanimous opinion.

We have a vintage year in the mountains. This autumn of '81 will rank with the finest autumns ever produced.

The winemaker's art provides a useful metaphor. Some of our autumns are thin, and some are pale and dusty — good enough for the ordinary table, but nothing to put out for company. This year the hillside are magnificent. We have a season of rich and robust color, crisp and sparkling, an autumn for sipping, an autumn for toasting.

These are the days we long for, all the way from New England to North Carolina. Ours are comfortable mountains. Meaning no offense to the Smokies and the Rockies, which have an awesome majesty all their own, the Adirondacks and Catskills, the Blue Ridge and the Great Smokies are easier to live with. There is nothing awesome about them. Such mountains do not brood or overpower. In autumn they are mountains to embrace.

The leaves began turning a little earlier than usual this year. By the end of September the dogwoods had gone to oxblood and cordon-rouge, their leaves as curled as a sultan's slippers.

The gums went next, mottled in black and red. Along our roadsides, the sumac sent up flames of scarlet fire. Now the maples are going, as crimson as pigment squeezed straight from the artist's tube.

It is a familiar image, but an apt one: Our hills are Persian carpets; tapestries made by master weavers. The old women of Tabriz, tying one knot at a time, could not contrive more brilliant rugs — threads of gold willow on a ground of deep green pines. This year the poplars are butter yellow, the oaks as brown as old leather. Some of the wildflowers, nipped by frost, are Bible black. The rug merchant has tumbled his wares as far as the eye can see.

With the sights of autumn come the sounds and scents of autumn. The corn that was green a month ago is brown and brittle now. Like prehistoric beasts, the giant harvesters growl and snuffle through the fields, digesting stalks, digesting silage. Now and then we hear the far-off pop and bam of guns; it is the time of the night hunters have been out, casting their lean and eager hounds in search of 'coon and possum. The hounds revel in their freedom like so many trumpet players practicing their scales.

We had the first open fire of the season in our kitchen on October 3, and marveled again at the pleasure of its cheerful warmth. Something in the smell of woodsmoke stirs the memory. The flames hypnotize, linking soul past to kitchens present, oak and acorn, tree to firewood. Whence came the fire of the hickory log? What comes after the embers fade to ashes? The somnolence of summer is past us now. Nothing remains of the vegetable garden save a few bedraggled tomato plants; their sleeves in tatters and their blossoms gone. Now we are raking leaves, grinding them for mulch. There are still apples to be picked, cider to be pressed. Our roadside stands have sprung to life; pyramids of pumpkins, stacked like gilded cannon balls, await conversion into pies and jack-o'-lanterns. Briar winds of autumn keep the pennant trees in motion. The butterflies of fall are fluttering too; we see the cutting garden through the leaded stained-glass window of a monarch's wing.

So we sip this burgundy fall, when the cold nights are crisp as apples and the afternoons are lit by shafts of leaf-blown light. Pick your metaphor — the glass of wine, the palette of the artist, the masterpiece of the weaver's art. In the exhilaration of a vintage — the amber, goldrums disappear. Winter will come, we know, but not until we have savored these days of pure delight.

Sadat's assassins killed a man, but not his legacy

© The Washington Post Company

WASHINGTON — It has been said that Britain is an island, France is a nation, Germany is a language, and Egypt is a river.

Recently, Egypt has been a man whose most crucial characteristic was his contrast with his predecessor. Anwar Sadat was not Nasser.

Nasser was the embodiment of "Arabism," and like the Cairo as at the time of his death, he was nk, on the desert. Sadat, one of great facts of our time, may have killed by one of the great frauds, myth of a "natural" Arab unity, myth is professed everywhere in sovereign and fractious states that the reality behind that destructive fiction, "the Arab world." But it is a myth everywhere believed by behavior, "Arabism" was anti-Arabism.

was the politics of the concrete interests of an actual nation as opposed to the politics of airy cultural affirmations. Sadat became a great-man because he decided to be a great Egyptian, not a great "Arab."

Egypt's geography — so much land with so little use — is like its social condition: a disproportion between a grand history and a confining present. But Sadat gave his country the finest gift a leader can confer, a more open future, and he did so by understanding the uses of personal bravery and political brutality. Bravery took him to Camp David, via Jerusalem. But he thought war, too, was necessary for the achievement of his purposes and he launched war.

Today the United States and Israel must insist that the Camp David process retains its vitality. So for the foreseeable future — which today is an exceptionally shallow vista — the United States and Israel must hope, or perhaps pretend, that the Camp David agreement was with a nation, not a man. They must hope that Sadat bequeathed a durable regime to a country capable of at least the minimum continuity that diplomatic parchment presupposes.

But pretending — the politics of creative fiction — was important to Sadat. Sadat, the second winner of the Nobel Peace Prize assassinated in 13 years, died in a military uniform. He was slain at a parade commemorating "victory" in the 1973 Yom Kippur war, the act of aggression that was, he thought, a prerequisite for his role as a man of peace. And only American diplomacy, and the coerced cooperation of Israel, prevented that war from being an Israeli victory. So de-

Sadat's downfall.

History is not an arena of justice. It is a test of the capacity to act. Sadat was one of history's diamond cutters. He had a jeweler's eye for moments that were rough diamonds which, if struck precisely right, become extraordinarily valuable but which, if struck in any of a number of wrong ways, shatter to dust.

Today the United States is being blamed for Sadat's death by people who believe the United States is not skillful enough to do anything right, but who also believe that nothing can go wrong anywhere without the help of the United States. The charge is that Sadat died because the peace process is too slow, and that the United States and Israel are to blame. But Sadat probably died because the region where the word "assassin" was coined, it was beyond the capacity of the United States (or Israel) to make safe the paths Sadat embarked upon, the paths of domestic modernization and international modernization. Menachem Begin, Sadat's partner in peace, is notably unlike Sadat in that his personality caused him to receive less credit than he deserved for Sadat's trip to Jerusalem and for what that trip led to, the Camp David agreements. In the end, Egypt gave up only unattainable demands and unachievable threats; Israel gave up land it occupied when defending itself against threats translated into aggression.

But it was, for Sadat, serendipitous that Begin is as deficient as a pro-jector of charm as Sadat was acicans, with their proclivity for personalizing political judgments, began to think too well of Egypt and too ill of Israel.

The odds are against Egypt's political system generating two in a row: two men with the skill to sustain an inclination they may have to resist the gravitational pull toward "pan-Arabism" and other extremist dead ends. Sadat's greatness was in acknowledging that Egypt's interests are more congruent with Israel's than with any Arab nation's. If Sadat's successors are willing and able to continue Sadatism, then Egypt is more like Israel (and the United States) than less fortunate nations are, in this regard: its continuity cannot be destroyed by a bullet because you do not kill its government

Reagan's proposed fund cut may wreck anti-fraud war

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, pledged to "follow every lead, root out every incompetent" in fighting waste and fraud in government, is calling for a $30 million cut for his chief watchdogs — the inspectors general.

Critics on Capitol Hill contend Reagan's proposed cuts for the government's 16 inspectors general would defeat his own goal of making federal programs more efficient, particularly since the IGs already are understaffed.

Reagan's revised 1982 budget proposal asks Congress to pare earlier funding requests by 12 percent for most of the IGs, the same bite he took to take from all federal offices and agencies.

He proposed specific cuts in six of the largest IG offices; in the 10 other cases, he left it up to agency heads as to how much to trim their investigative operations. In total, Reagan called for a reduction of roughly $30 million to $40 million from the $301 million he proposed for IGs offices in March.

Rep. L.H. Fountain, D-N.C., who co-sponsored legislation creating the IGs, said the proposed cuts "would aggravate an already bad situation and have a devastating impact on the ability" of the IGs to carry out their mandate.

The IGs, with less than 5,500 total auditors and investigators, are assigned to root out waste and fraud in programs costing $400 billion. By comparison, the Defense Department has no inspector general, but has 18,000 auditors to oversee a $200 billion budget.

Only last March, Reagan said in an executive order creating a commission on government integrity and efficiency: "We are going to follow every lead, root out every incompetent and prosecute any crook we find who's cheating the people of this nation. This I promise."

One congressional source said the proposed inspector general cutback not only contradicts that pledge, but is "not a very good way to save money," since inspectors general commonly recover much more money than they spend. For example, investigators at the Department of Health and Human Services recently found more than $60 million in Social Security benefits have been mailed to dead people — a discovery that could recoup more than double what Reagan's IG cutbacks would save.

Under the president's proposal, the budget for the inspector general's office at HHS would be trimmed in 1982 from about $45 million to $39.6 million — possibly meaning some Social Security investigators will be laid off.

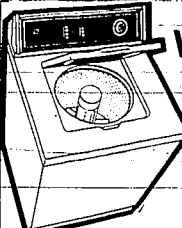

Joseph Slickon, new inspector general at the scandal-plagued General Services Administration, conceded if his office is cut by $2.4 million, as Reagan proposes, "it would mean some curtailment" in its activities.

Richard Mulberry, IG at the Interior Department, said in fiscal 1980 his office saved taxpayers about four times as much money as it spent. He said his proposed $1.2 million reduction "won't be disastrous... but something has to fall by the wayside."

Moonshiners smile over cutback plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan's plans to cut funds for the agency that fights cigarette smuggling and moonshining could be a boost for organized crime.

The cuts — aimed at the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms — could also cut into state revenues by allowing more cigarette smugglers to go undetected, according to the officials, who asked not to be identified.

The money pinch would hit financially strapped Northeastern states and Florida, which have the highest cigarette taxes and the biggest smuggling problem.

Most smuggling the bureau deals with involves organized crime, said Ed Easley, the bureau's chief of investigations. Cigarette violations become a federal offense only if more than 60,000 cigarettes are smuggled at a time, he said. Consequently, other officials said, Reagan's decision to cut the ATF's budget will increase organized crime's revenues while costing states money.

Easley said, "I feel certain our presence is going to be missed out there."

"We have drastically changed our enforcement approach," he said. "There's been a systematic withdrawal of resources."

He added there is speculation that enforcement efforts also will be cut back against arson and moonshining — the illegal manufacture of alcohol to evade the $10.50 a gallon federal excise tax.

Cigarette running is big business, according to Les Stanford, an ATF spokesman.

18 churchmen visit China

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An 18-member delegation from the National Council of Churches will visit China next month, the first group of U.S. church leaders to be officially invited by China's two major Christian organizations.

The U.S. delegation will include leaders of both the National Council of Churches and top officials from several Protestant and Orthodox denominations, council officials said.

Although a number of U.S. Christian groups and individuals have visited China since the death of Mao Tse-tung, council officials said this is the first official invitation extended by the two major Christian groups in China — the China Christian Council and the Protestant Three-Self Patriotic Movement.

Chinese Christians have been very wary of renewed interest in China by western Christians. They fear renewed relations could lead to a return of a kind of missionary imperialism.

Military pay hikes to aid lower ranks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some generals and admirals won't get anything, but new military pay hikes — as much as 17 percent — will mean about $50 a month more for privates.

Captains will collect another $3,000 a year. The wage boost, the second sizable increase in two years, should show up in military pay checks later this month after President Reagan signs the law just approved by Congress.

The raises — ranging from 10 percent to 17 percent according to rank — were approved in an effort to keep skilled and experienced personnel in the services.

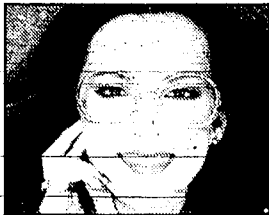

Military personnel also can get non-taxable housing and subsistence allowances, as well as extra pay for special skills or hazardous duty. For example, all officers can get a $94.39 monthly subsistence allowance.

The new raises come on top of an 11.7 percent hike that went into effect last Oct. 1, and members of Congress now feel military pay is on a par with similar civilian jobs. It remains to be seen if military men — and women — agree with that assessment and will stay in the service.

The military boost also has caused grumbling among civilian government workers, since Reagan has recommended they get only a 4.8 percent hike.

For officers, this year's raise is a flat 14.3 percent, but most generals and admirals will not get any more. That's because they already are up against the $30,000 pay ceiling imposed on all federal employees.

Dear Abby

Teens can erase tattoos

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago, the "Tattooed Man" wrote you, explaining the grief his self-inflicted tattoos had brought him.

Thousands of teen-agers have engraved themselves with tattoos, often as a symbol of gang identification, and later wish there was some way the tattoos could be removed. As you advised the "Tattooed Man," a plastic surgeon should be consulted. Most teen-agers, however, cannot afford a plastic surgeon, and for years the marks proclaim their youthful indiscretion and gang affiliation.

Now in the San Fernando Valley, there is a unique project, sponsored by the Los Angeles County Medical Association and Juvenile Justice Connection Project, whereby teen-agers can have gang-related tattoos removed without cost. As the plastic surgeon who performs the surgeries, I have seen several teen-agers have their lives literally turned around after removal.

For further details about our anti-gang project that offers free surgical service, please contact me by writing in care of the Juvenile Justice Connection Project, 6857 Lennox Ave., Van Nuys, Calif. 91405.

F.A.C.S. SHERMAN OAKS, CALIF.
DEAR DR. STEIN: Your unique project deserves this nationwide publicity. I hope it inspires other plastic surgeons around the country to initiate similar programs.

DEAR ABBY: My only granddaughter has been taking showers after dinner with her father ever since she was a very young child. She is now 7 years old, and her father still calls her when he's ready to shower so she can join him. I do not approve of this closeness, and feel that a 7-year-old girl needs her privacy.

This situation has been upsetting me. I've discussed it with my daughter and she suggested that I write to Abby and ask how you feel about it. I am waiting patiently for your reply.

GRANNY

DEAR GRANNY: I agree with you. Your granddaughter should have quit showing with her father three years ago.

DEAR ABBY: Bless you for rerunning that wonderful patriotic poem, "If God Should Go on Strike." I had copies made and have sent them all over the U.S.A. and Canada.

— CECILIN VERMONT
DEAR CECIL: Thanks. I needed that. Read on for the flip side:

DEAR ABBY: I beseech you to stop featuring such insipid poetry as "If God Should Go on Strike." It was bad enough seeing it in your column once, but twice was almost too much to bear. Believe me, Abby, these flea-brains who request reruns of such tripe are in the minority.

And while I'm writing, I implore you not to devote an entire column to one subject like drunk driving. No drunk is ever going to make it through an entire column in the first place!

What I want is letters! As many as you can cram into your space, which should be twice as long as it is. And I want these letters sensational — drugs, illicit relationships, cheating spouses, etc. This is the stuff I wake up for! Please, Abby, I write this on my knees. Sign me

What's what

The sad condition called dyscalculia is an antipathy toward beautiful women. Not so common, that one. Let of fellows tense up in the presence of a gorgeous female. They get hostile. They think she's conceited, self-centered and haughty, even before she says a word. It's not all bad; says our Love and War man. Were it not for dyscalculia, many a homely woman would never find a boyfriend.

Q. What does the human being have in common with the two-toed sloth?
A. These are the only two land animals that mate face to face.

You say automation puts people out of work? The most automated country in the world—Japan—has only about a 2-percent unemployment rate.

HEADBANDS

Q. Didn't all the Japanese kamikaze pilots of World War II wear headbands to keep their hair out of their eyes?
A. Headbands yes, but not to keep the hair out of their eyes. Those ceremonial bands were called hachimaki and they symbolized strength and courage.

Q. Who was the richest man ever to serve as U.S. President?
A. Lyndon Johnson. Reportedly worth $14-million when he succeeded John F. Kennedy.

Q. What university football team was given its official name in honor of a graduate who became a professional football star?
A. Believe you refer to "The Mean Green" of North Texas State. The name with the school color stuck after Pittsburgh Steeler Joe Greene graduated in 1968.

Q. What are "Mexican strawberries"?
A. Border jargon for pinto beans.

NAPOLEON'S AUTOPSY

The autopsy of Napoleon Bonaparte was conducted on a billiard table.

Will you buy the report in "Ma" magazine that many scholars claim Pope John VIII was actually Pope Joan?

Am asked to name the best-selling novel in the entire history of publishing. That would be "Valley of the Dolls" by the late Jacqueline Susann. With 22 million books sold since 1966.

Horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the day has much confusion so be sure of your facts and figures. Later you can rise above some difficulties and make this a most productive day.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Find a new way of solving a difficult problem. Be more agreeable with a new acquaintance who could be helpful to you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Try not to be too forceful with others in order to gain your personal aims. Be more concerned with doing your work well.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have excellent ideas that should be put in operation quickly for best results. Slidepast a fair-weather friend.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Find best way to handle tasks which you have committed yourself to and gain the respect of others.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Find out what is expected of you by your employer and cooperate more with them. You have creative ideas that need expression.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't get downhearted because you think you have too big a work load. A time to put more effort into your work.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Show more courtesy to others and gain their goodwill by being more cooperative. Avoid one who is a time waster.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Do whatever will bring more harmony between you and close ties. Get rid of whatever is causing disharmony.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Steer clear of situations that could bring trouble. You must exercise more patience in handling a civic matter.

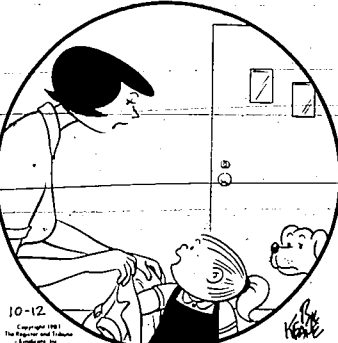

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be more objective in business dealings and get better results. Look for ways to improve your financial status.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You may be anxious to gain a personal aim but don't be forceful with others in trying to do so. Be wise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Your ambitions are fine but gain them tactfully and not forcefully. Avoid one who is not thinking straight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who will first study every possible way of doing things, and then follow through on a plan in a positive fashion. A modern-age person here who will not waste time with the antiquated.

Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Monday, Oct. 12, the 285th day of 1961 with 80 to follow.

Today is Columbus Day.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning stars are Mars and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Libra. Elmer Sperry, American inventor and electrical engineer, was born Oct. 12, 1860.

On this date in history:

In 1492, Christopher Columbus discovered the new world known as "America." The first landing is believed to have been made in the Bahamas, southeast of what now is Florida.

In 1960, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev removed one of his shoes and pounded on his desk with it during a speech before the United Nations. General Assembly President Frederick Bolding lost his Irish temper and split his gavel trying to restore order.

In 1976, swine flu inoculations were halted in nine states after three people died shortly after taking the shots.

Wreck of Columbus' Pinta located?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pinta — one of three small ships Christopher Columbus guided to the New World — may have been found in the blue waters of the Bahamas.

A group based in Washington said it plans to sail from Key West, Fla., Nov. 26 to the Turks and Caicos Islands in the northern part of the Bahamas chain, where the Pinta is believed to have shipwrecked in 1500.

A recently-published article reported that two years of research led Erick and Gasque to a document they believe may be the original manifest of the Pinta.

Royalty returns to work

LONDON (UPI) — Even royal honeymoon must end, and the honeymoon is ending for Prince Charles and Princess Diana of Wales — in the practical though not the romantic sense.

Since the splendor and magnificence of their wedding July 29, the 32-year-old heir to the throne and his 20-year-old princess have had their lives to themselves — at least as much as is possible for a royal couple.

Now it's back to work.

A three-day tour of Wales Oct. 27-29, an art exhibition to open, a Buckingham Palace reception, a film festival to attend, a coronation luncheon — it's the royal round familiar to Charles but barely sampled by Diana, who will be making her official debut as Princess of Wales.

"To some extent there has been an attempt to reduce the pressures upon them," Buckingham Palace spokesman said, "so their schedule is not excessively heavy during the autumn."

But "excessively heavy" is a relative phrase. For Diana especially, only a year from sequestered days as an unknown part-time kindergarten teacher, the pace seems daunting.

A dozen public functions, several royal "walkabouts," a gala dinner during a high-speed whisk through Rhyll, Llandudno, Bangor, Caernarvon, Cardiff — and that's just their first three days.

With hardly a break came a Buckingham Palace reception, a concert in grandiose Blenheim Palace, an evening of Indian dancing, a session on raising the 400-year-old Tudor warship Mary Rose, formal openings of the London Film Festival and the "Art of the Gonzagas" exhibition — the two on right through the month, the palace spokesman said.

For the past three months, Charles and Diana's main public preoccupation has been keeping out of the public eye. They were remarkably successful.

Wealthy Kuwaiti dodges payments

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — The son of a Kuwaiti oil sheik has apparently fled the country to avoid paying $1 million to a longshoreman injured in an automobile accident.

All Al-Sabah, a Kuwait native who came to the Bay Area in January, 1979, on a diplomatic passport, had speeded guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated. He allegedly rammed his new van into a Cadillac driven by George Roland, 57, last April.

It's Expos vs. Dodgers in NL pennant series

Rogers spins six-hit, 3-0 victory over Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Dear loyal fans of Montreal: you ain't seen nothing yet!

That was the message that came through loud and clear from the Montreal Expos Sunday as they celebrated their National League East championship clinching 3-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Sunday with a wild champagne-spraying party.

"Hey people," pitcher Steve Rogers, who led the way to victory with six-hit pitching and a two-run single, said in a message broadcast home to Canada, "you think we gave you a lot to cheer about when we won the second half and when we won the division today, now we're really going to give you something to cheer about because we're going to make a run for the roses and then we'll be back home."

Catcher Gary Carter, the Expos' offensive star throughout the five-game series, also took time to thank the Canadians who stood by during two frustrating second-place finishes in 1979 and 1980 and this year, when they blew a two-games-to-none lead against Philadelphia before they finally clinched the division in Sunday's Game 5.

Third baseman Larry Parrish said the pain of the past two seasons paid off for them Sunday.

"The way we came back from those two losses (Friday and Saturday) comes in part from the experience of having lost those past two years," he said. "I don't know if that bad experience makes today sweeter, but it sure feels a few wounds to finally win it."

The Expos' celebration more resembled a little kid's birthday party held without chaperones as players and front-office people alike shook their bottles of champagne and then released 20-foot arcs of spray across the clubhouse floor into a wading pool.

"People say this is a chance to act like little kids," Parrish said. "Well, that's okay. That's what we are anyway — big kids playing a little kid's game."

Their partying also was a means of relieving the pressure they had felt going into Sunday's game, wondering whether they would be able to come back from two losses against ace Philadelphia pitcher Steve Carlton.

"You can't believe how sweet it is," Carter said, passing to White champagne, and possibly a few tears, from his eyes. "We went out there and beat the best and I'm talking about Lefty (Carlton) now. Our guy Steve (Rogers) went out there and won the big game."

Ruess shuts out Astros 4-0 to fulfill own goal

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jerry Ruess gave himself the gift he had wanted for the past six years — a trip to the National League playoffs.

Ruess scattered five hits Sunday to lead the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 4-0 victory over the Houston Astros, clinching the NL West series three games to two after losing the first two games in Houston.

The Dodgers open the NL championship series at home Tuesday against East champion Montreal at Dodger Stadium, where the Expos have lost 18 of their last 19 games.

Ruess hasn't participated in a league championship since 1975, when he was with the Pittsburgh Pirates. He came to the Dodgers in 1979.

"This was certainly my most exciting victory," Ruess said. "It's the most fulfilling win because we're going to the league championship series. I've been waiting a long time for this."

"When I pitch I'm on some kind of an ego trip and that plate belongs to me. Nothing happens until I am ready and I know I can control the entire game. I told the guys just to get a few runs and I'd take care of the rest."

Ruess compared Sunday's matchup against Houston's Nolan Ryan to last season, when the two faced each other in the regular season finale. Ruess and the Dodgers won that game, forcing a one-game division playoff that Houston captured 7-1.

"We just wanted to stay alive in this series," Ruess said. "We wanted to beat the team that beat us a year ago. Last season was on our minds. There's no question about that."

The Dodgers were "sparked" offensively by Steve Garvey, who scored one run and drove in another with a triple. He said the game proved the Dodgers aren't a team that quits.

"We dispelled a lot of things today. We let them know that we don't give up. People talked about our bad second half and they were writing us off," Ruess said.

"Houston had talked so much about what good pitching they have but they forgot about our pitching. I'll take our staff any day. Games like this are what it's all about. These are the games that I get up for."

Loading the joyous celebration in the Dodgers' locker room was manager Tom Lasorda, who said over and over that he never lost confidence in his team even after the first two losses.

Yanks use power to beat Brewers, gain title series

NEW YORK (UPI) — It took something special for New York to vanquish the courageous Milwaukee Brewers and the difference may have come from Yankee owner George Steinbrenner.

The Yankees, responding to a verbal blast by Steinbrenner, muscled their way into the American League playoffs Sunday night, using home runs by Reggie Jackson, Oscar Gamble and Rick Cerone to produce a 7-3 victory over the Brewers in the fifth and deciding game of the AL East mini-series.

"It's hard to say," Gamble said when asked what effect Steinbrenner's comments had on the team. "But everybody came out psyched tonight and we won the ballgame."

Jackson tied the game in the fourth inning with a two-run homer and Gamble followed with a solo shot to send the Yankees against their former manager, Billy Martin, and his Western Division champion Oakland A's in a five-game series starting Tuesday at Yankee Stadium.

Dave Righetti pitched three innings in relief of Ron Guidry and picked up the decision that gave the Yankees their fifth division title in six years and left the Brewers on a victory short of becoming only the second team ever to win a best-of-five series after losing the first two games.

"I'm very disappointed in losing tonight but I'm proud of my team," said Milwaukee Manager Buck Rodgers. "It came down to pitching straight outgames without a scoring phase. We couldn't get to our short man. Our starter couldn't get past Jackson and Gamble."

Yankee Manager Bob Lemon understandably felt relieved that his team survived the onslaught of the Brewers.

"We never said it would be easy," said Lemon. "It was a nail-biter but we'll be all right."

Steinbrenner, the Yankees' controversial owner who has twice fired Martin, made a well-publicized visit to the clubhouse after Saturday night's 2-1 loss that evened the series at two games apiece. He blasted the Yankees for their sloppy play and said there would be changes if the club lost to Milwaukee Sunday.

Steinbrenner denied that his statements affected the outcome of the deciding game.

"No, they're pros. They don't need that," he said. "That's one of my shortcomings, I guess."

Asked about the need for the meeting, he replied: "That's me. I do what I feel. They're just pros. They were ready."

When asked what he thought of Cerone's performance, Steinbrenner replied, "What can you say about the guy? He had three hits (actually two) and a home run battling right-handed against a tough right-hander like Jim Stinson. And Jackson rose to the occasion. He must have looked at the calendar."

The Yankees, recalling their championship tradition just in time, reacted by routing loser Moose Haas with four runs in the fourth inning to overturn a two-run deficit and emerge with a 4-2 margin that they never lost.

Righetti allowed a run in the seventh that let the Brewers pull within 4-3 but Cerone, whose baserunning blunder helped cost the Yankees Game Four, homered in the seventh for a 6-3 lead.

The Brewers, defying the odds and tying the series despite losing the first two games at home, opened the deciding game as if they could go all the way. They took a 1-0 lead in the second when Gorman Thomas, battling a 1-for-13 slump and a puffed right hand, hit a 1-2 Guidry delivery into the left field seats for a home run. They made it 2-0 in the third on a pop fly single by Ed Romero, a walk to Paul Molitor, a single by Robin Yount and a sacrifice fly by Cooper.

But Haas, just as he did in Game One, fell apart after 3 1/2 innings. Larry Milbourne, inserted into the second spot in the lineup, led off with a single and after Dave Winfield fled out, Jackson hit the first pitch into the upper deck in right field to tie the score at 2-2.

New York liked Reggie Jackson's homer run blast better than George Steinbrenner's verbal one but both added up to victory

Cerone's homer answers verbal abuse

NEW YORK (UPI) — If Sunday was the time to answer New York Yankees Owner George Steinbrenner, Rick Cerone responded the best way he could think of — with a booming blast instead of a lashing tongue.

"I'm only one of 25 guys in here," Cerone said Sunday night after his eighth-inning solo home run gave the Yankees an insurance run in a 7-3 AL East Division-clinching victory over the Milwaukee Brewers. "The pressure's on everybody. I would have been trying to swing the same way if the problem didn't happen yesterday."

In a post-game interview after Saturday's loss to the Brewers, Steinbrenner was critical of a baserunning blunder by Cerone that took the Yankees out of a possible tying-run situation.

"What can you do?" Cerone asked. "There are 26 teams that would like to have me. This is my home but how much can you take sometimes?"

Reggie Jackson, also a target in the past for Steinbrenner, belted a two-run homer in the fourth inning that tied the score 2-2. But Jackson gave credit to the Yankees' owner when asked if a Saturday post-game meeting between the owner and the players had any effect on Sunday's performance.

"It seems to be kind of coincidental that when George ... well, we respond," said Jackson. "It surprised me that he jumped on us right after a loss but it damn sure seems to work when he does it."

Milwaukee jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the third inning after Gorman

Thomas hit a second-inning solo homer and Cecil Cooper added a third-inning sacrifice fly. But after Larry Milbourne led off the fourth with a single off loser Moose Haas, Jackson unloaded on Haas' first pitch and blasted it off the upper-deck facade in right field to tie the score at 2-2. Oscar Gamble then followed with a solo homer and the Yankees took the lead for good.

"Thank God, for the home run because I wasn't hitting anything," said Jackson, who drove five balls into the right-field seats in batting practice. "I was just hitting mistakes and I don't want to take credit for the victory."

"We got great pitching from (Ron) Guidry and (Dave) Righetti and we got a two or three-run lead for Goose (Gossage) and that pretty well did it."

After Jackson's home run, Gamble belted a 3-and-2 pitch off Haas for his second homer of the series, both off Haas. After Mike Caldwell replaced Haas, Graig Nettles and Bob Watson singled. Dwight Gooden replaced Caldwell and Cerone hit a slow bouncer to shortstop Bernard Yount, who could only get a force play at second as Nettles scored.

"I decided this afternoon after checking with Guidry that he would go four or five hard innings," said New York Manager Bob Lemon, who took over for first-year manager Gene Michael late this season. "After the second inning, we decided that Guidry would only go four."

"I never said it would be easy. It was a nail-biter and a roller-churner."

Chiefs pin third shutout on Raiders; Vikes stun Chargers

World champs pushing 38-year pointless mark

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Not since the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1943 has a National Football League team been shut out in three consecutive games.

No one ever confused the Oakland Raiders with the Brooklyn Dodgers ... until now, that is. The Raiders were shut out Sunday by the Kansas City Chiefs, 27-0, to run their string of scoreless games to three in a row.

The Brooklyn Dodgers went straight games without a scoring point 28 years ago. The Raiders have now registered zeros on consecutive weekends against the Detroit Lions, Denver Broncos and Chiefs.

But don't expect the Chiefs to gloat, even though it's the first time in the bitter 22-year rivalry that one team has shut out the other.

"I'm not going to say anything," said Kansas City defensive end Mike Bell, whose Chiefs posted their first shutout since the 1973 season opener when they prevailed against Baltimore 14-0. "We've got to play them again in two weeks. They've got a good offense. Don't take anything away from them. But we've got a great defense."

"Any time we play as well as the Kansas City Chiefs played today," added safety Gary Barbaro, "it's going to be tough for anybody to score on us."

The Chiefs, who rank 11th in the NFL in defending the run, held the Raiders to 72 yards on the ground and harassed quarterbacks Jim Plunkett and Marc Wilson into a 14-of-40 passing performance. The Raiders finished the game with only 230 total yards.

"It's always a bad day when you get blown off the field," said Oakland Coach Tom Flores. "Our running game is not going at all and we're in a position where our offense is predictable. And when you get into that position, they can really tee off on you. We've been in that position for the last two weeks and you just can't do that against a good defensive team like Kansas City."

"I don't have an answer," said Kansas City Coach Marv Levy. "They're a good team. They went to the Super Bowl last year. Maybe everybody is getting up to play the Super Bowl championship. I know we were."

Rookie Joe Delaney rushed for 106 yards and caught three passes for 104 yards Sunday to pace the Chiefs. Bill Kenney completed 15-of-25 passes for 287 yards and two touchdowns, rookie Billy Jackson scored on a 4-yard run and Nick Lowery kicked field goals of 52 and 25 yards as the Chiefs improved to 4-2. The Raiders fell to 2-4.

Delaney, making his first pro starting start because of an ankle injury to Ted McKnight, topped 100 yards rushing for the second straight week as the Chiefs beat the Raiders for the fourth time in their last five meetings. Delaney came off the bench for the injured McKnight in the first quarter against New England last week to gain 101 yards.

The Raiders were futile offensively as Ray Guy was forced to punt nine times and Plunkett was pulled in the fourth quarter for the second consecutive week. The Raiders have now gone 12 straight games without scoring a point.

Oakland's only real threat came in the closing minutes of the first half when Plunkett marched the Raiders to the Kansas City 19. But safety Gary Barbaro intercepted a Plunkett pass on the goal line in the final play of the half to preserve a 10-0 lead.

Delaney contributed at least half the yards in each of Kansas City's first three scoring drives to stake the Chiefs to a 13-0 lead. He had 21 of the 42 yards that resulted in Lowery's first field goal, 69-of-89 yards that resulted in Jackson's touchdown and 46 of the 80 yards that set up Lowery's second field goal.

Danmeier's kick earns win in last 4 seconds

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — San Diego gave Rick Danmeier a second chance Sunday and the Minnesota kicker made the Chargers pay the price.

With 1:51 left and the Vikings within 31-30 after Tommy Kramer's 43-yard touchdown pass to Terry LeCount, Danmeier was wide left with an extra point attempt.

But Minnesota got new life and recovered an onside kick. Danmeier then kicked a 38-yard field goal with 4 seconds remaining to give Minnesota a stunning 33-31 victory over the Chargers.

"I've got every bit of confidence in myself and every bit of confidence in the other 10 guys," said Danmeier. "I just went out there and concentrated on what I had to do. I've kicked a lot of these (onside field goals) and the worst thing that could have happened was to think about missing it."

"But a lot of credit has to go to the other 10 guys."

After missing the extra point, Danmeier said Minnesota knew what it had to do.

"The first thing was to get the onside kick and the second was for the offense to get into position for a field goal. We simply did what had to be done and we did it well."

LeCount, then threw an incomplete pass and connected with LeCount for 15 yards to give Minnesota the ball on the Charger 20.

After Kramer recovered his own fumble, Danmeier kicked the clinching field goal.

Kramer completed 27-of-42 passes for 441 yards as Minnesota improved its leading record in the NFC Central to 4-2. The Chargers Dan Fouts completed 20-of-37 passes for 420 yards as the Chargers fell to 4-2 in the AFC West.

Minnesota had a chance to tie the game with 1:51 left to play following a 43-yard touchdown pass from Kramer to LeCount, but Danmeier's extra point attempt was wide to the left. The Vikings then made the successful onside kick.

Kramer also had TD passes of 15 yards to Ricky Young and 4 yards to Ted Brown in the second period and 26 yards to LeCount in the third period. Danmeier kicked a 28-yard field goal in the third period.

The Chargers took the lead 31-30 at 10:47 of the final quarter as Chuck Muncie, his fractured left hand banded in a cast, punched over a touchdown on 4th-and-goal. He ran for another score on a 2-yard run in the opening quarter.

Fouts passed for two touchdowns — a 60-yarder to Dwight Scales and a 38-yard strike to Charlie Joiner. The Chargers got their other scores on Scales' TD reception in the second quarter, a 39-yard field goal by Rolf Benirschke in the third quarter and Joiner's TD in the same period.

Muncie had been a questionable starter for the game after suffering a fractured left hand two weeks ago against Denver.

San Diego tied the score 14-14 at halftime on Fouts' 60-yard bomb to Scales, the longest Charger scoring pass of the season, with 6:45 remaining in the second period. The four-play, 73-yard drive was highlighted by an 11-yard pass to Eric Slevens and a 9-yard pass to Joiner before Scales took Fouts' pass over Minnesota cornerback Willie Taul on the 5 and fell into the end zone.

The Chargers scored first in the game with 3:11 remaining in the opening quarter on a 2-yard run by Muncie. The score was set up when Charger defensive tackle Gary Johnson intercepted a Kramer pass and ran 33 yards to the Vikings' 7.

The Vikings tied the score 7-7 on their next possession on a 15-yard TD pass from Kramer to Young. That capped a nine-play, 66-yard drive that included passes of 23 yards.

San Francisco stuns Dallas in 45-14 upset

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Joe Montana completed 30-of-39 passes for 314 yards and two touchdowns Sunday and the San Francisco 49ers added 17 other points on Dallas turnovers in crushing the Cowboys 45-14.

The victory was the third straight for the 49ers and put them in a tie with Los Angeles for first place in the NFC West.

The Cowboys suffered their second straight setback and fell to 4-2. It was the worst Dallas defeat since the St. Louis Cardinals shut out the Cowboys 30-0 in 1970.

The 49ers took the opening kickoff 61 yards in 11 plays with Montana throwing to Freddie Solomon for the final yard and a 7-0 lead. The 49ers stayed on top from that point and the Cowboys scored only once with their offensive unit when Danny White moved them 86 yards in 10 plays, with Drew Pearson throwing the final 22 yards to Tony Hill on a halfback option play.

Dallas crossed the 50 only once on its own initiative. The other Cowboy touchdown came midway through the final quarter when Barry Berres ran 72 yards with a fumble recovery.

Montana's other touchdown pass was a 70-yarder to Dwight Clark in the first quarter and at that point San Francisco trailed 14-0.

Paul Hoyer ran 4 yards, Johnny Davis and Amos Lawrence ran 1 yard each for three other touchdowns. Ray Wessling kicked an 18-yard field goal and defensive back Ronnie Lott ran 41 yards with a pass interception.

Eagles 31, Saints 14
NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Ron Jaworski threw for 207 yards, including a scoring strike to Keith Krepfle, and Booker Russell ran for two more touchdowns to power undefeated Philadelphia to a 31-14 victory over New Orleans.

The Eagles broke the game open early, with Jaworski's touchdown pass to Krepfle, a pair of 1-yard scoring drives by Russell and a 22-yard field goal by Tony Franklin for a 24-7 halftime advantage.

Jaworski, who went over the 1,000-yard passing mark in the game, finished with 15 completions on 28 attempts. The victory improved Philadelphia's record to 6-0 and helped the Eagles stay atop the NFC East. New Orleans slipped to 1-5.

If there was any doubt after the first half, Philadelphia sealed the victory early in the third quarter when linebacker Frank LeMaster scooped up an Archie Manning fumble and rambed 47 yards for a touchdown and a 31-7 edge.

Steelers 13, Browns 7
PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Terry Bradshaw passed for 199 yards and one touchdown, rookie Dave Trout kicked two field goals and J. T. Thomas intercepted a Cleveland pass in the end zone with 1:53 remaining Sunday, to give the Pittsburgh Steelers their fourth straight victory, a 13-7 decision over the Browns in an AFC Central Division clash.

For the Browns, 2-4, and in the cellar of the Central

NFL roundup

Division, it was a game of missed opportunities and one in which they had to play the entire fourth quarter without their leader, Brian Shipley. The veteran quarterback left the game three plays before the end of the third quarter with a concussion and did not return.

Thomas' game-saving catch came after reserve quarterback Dave McDonald, in only the second game of his two-year pro career, had driven the Browns from their own 3 to the Pittsburgh 12 and was threatening to pull out still another of the Browns' "Kardiac" finishes with a first-and-10 situation.

McDonald was looking for tight end Ozzie Newsome along the back line of the end zone, but the pass bounced in and out of the hands of safety Dwayne Woodruff and was grabbed by Thomas.

Jets 28, Patriots 24
NEW YORK (UPI) — Richard Todd threw three first-half TD passes, and Darrel Ray returned an interception 43 yards for the deciding score Sunday to lead the New York Jets to a 28-24 victory over the sagging New England Patriots.

Johnny Unitas saved the game for the Jets when he intercepted Steve Grogan's pass near his own goal line and returned it 67 yards to run out the clock.

Todd threw TD passes of 17 and 5 yards to Jerome Barkum and 29 yards to Wesley Walker and Ray gave New York a 28-14 lead with his score in the third period.

New York then got a key interception by Ken Schroy with seven minutes left to help fend off a New England rally after the Patriots cut the lead to 28-24.

Nogi Talupu ran 2 yards for one New England score. Tony Collins dashed 9 yards for another and Grogan, who replaced Matt Cavanaugh in the third period, had an 11-yard TD pass to Don Hasselbeck.

Rams 37, Falcons 35
ATLANTA (UPI) — Frank Corral kicked a 25-yard field goal with 24 seconds left to play Sunday to give Los Angeles a 37-35 victory over the Atlanta Falcons in a contest highlighted by sensational scoring punt returns of 75 and 84 yards by the Rams' LeRoy Irvin.

Irvin's second return, an 84-yard gallop down the right sidelines, brought the Rams to within one point at 35-34 with 8:23 left in the game.

The Rams then started the final drive on their own with 4:35 to play. Reserve quarterback Jeff Rutledge completed passes of 12 and 6 yards to Henry Chiles and 20 and 9 yards to Preston Dennard as the Rams moved down field.

Corral's kick, his third field goal of the day, came after Cullen Bryant's run had set the Rams up in front of the goalposts in the Atlanta 3.

Buccaneers 21, Packers 10

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — The Tampa Bay Buccaneers, behind the passing and running of quarterback Doug Williams, scored touchdowns on their first two possessions of the second half Sunday and got four interceptions to beat the Green Bay Packers 21-10.

The victory gave the Buccaneers a 4-2 record and left them in a tie with the NFC Central. Green Bay, which has yet to win at home this season, dropped to 2-4.

Williams broke a 7-7 halftime tie by plunging 1 yard to cap a 65-yard drive that began after the opening kickoff of the second half. Less than two minutes later, Tampa Bay linebacker Cecil Johnson intercepted a Lynn Dickey pass and rambed 29 yards to the Green Bay 1.

Fullback James Wilder fouged his way into the end zone on the next play and Bill Copee added the point after for a 21-7 lead.

Tampa Bay also scored on a 5-yard pass from Williams to tight end Jimmie Giles, who worked himself free from the Green Bay defense most of the afternoon.

Oilers 35, Seahawks 17
HOUSTON (UPI) — Ken Stabler recovered from his poorest passing day as a pro one week ago to throw three touchdowns Sunday and Earl Campbell hammered the Seattle Seahawks defense for 18 rushing yards to carry the Houston Oilers to a 35-17 victory Sunday.

Campbell, who carried a personal and team record 39 times, scored twice on short runs. His 15-yard scoring run in the second quarter provided the Oilers a 14-0 lead and overcame a fast Seahawk start.

Seattle put 10 points in the first quarter on Elfen Herrera's 41-yard field goal and on a 17-yard touchdown pass from Jim Zorn to David Hughes and they did score until the final minute.

Interceptions of Zorn passes by cornerback Carter Hartwig and linebacker Gregg Bingham in the second quarter with Seattle leading 10-7 turned the game around, and thereafter the Oilers controlled the game with long, grinding drives.

Stabler, who had completed only one pass in six attempts one week ago, passed for 156 yards on 12 completions in 18 attempts against the Seahawks. He was not intercepted.

Redskins 24, Bears 7
CHICAGO (UPI) — Neal Olkewicz returned one of four Vince Evans' interceptions for a touchdown and John Higgins scored two touchdowns to lead the Washington Redskins to a 24-7 victory over the Chicago Bears, the Redskins' first victory of the season. Higgins scored on two short touchdowns runs and gained 130 yards in 23 carries to pace the Washington offense.

Washington, hampered by turnovers all season, turned the tables on Chicago by snaring four interceptions. The Redskins' pass rush also scored four sacks.

Chicago, 1-5 and off to its worst start in six years, saw its two key offensive performers, Evans and Walter Payton, have their worst days in years.

Bengals 41, Colts 19

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Ken Anderson fired three touchdown passes and completed 21-of-27 passes for 257 yards Sunday to lead the Cincinnati Bengals to a 41-19 rout of the Baltimore Colts.

Anderson, enjoying one of the best starts in his 11-year career, completed scoring strikes of 19, 20 and 2 yards and fullback Pete Johnson scored on a 12-yard run. Jim Breach kicked field goals of 20 and 24 yards to round out the scoring for Cincinnati, 42.

Baltimore quarterback Bert Jones threw a 65-yard TD pass and fullback Cleveland Franklin scored from 1 yard out for the Colts, who have dropped five straight after an opening day victory. A 19-yard Mike Wood field goal and a safety on the block of a Pat McNally punt attempt accounted for the Colts' other scoring.

Giants 34, Cardinals 14
EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — Phil Simms threw three touchdown passes, two to Johnny Perkins, and newly-acquired Rob Carpenter led the game with a 21-yard scoring run Sunday to lead the New York Giants to a 34-14 rout of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Simms hit Perkins for second-quarter TD passes of 5 and 7 yards and connected with Earnest Gray on a spectacular 22-yard scoring play late in the third period as the Giants took a 27-7 lead. Carpenter dashed off left tackle for the final touchdown, and Joe Daniele kicked two field goals as New York evened its record at 3-3.

St. Louis, 2-4, which lost three fumbles and suffered an interception, jumped to a 7-0 lead early in the second quarter on Jim Hart's 14-yard TD pass to Doug Marsh, but surrendered 27 consecutive points until Theotis Brown scored from 3 yards out at 2:13 of the fourth quarter.

Broncos 27, Lions 21
DENVER (UPI) — Craig Morton threw touchdown passes of 25, 40 and 15 yards and Fred Steinfelt added a pair of 9-yard field goals Sunday to give the Denver Broncos a 27-21 victory over the Detroit Lions.

The Lions, whose final, desperate drive was shut down with 28 seconds to play at Denver's 7, scored on a 46-yard run by Billy Sims, a 1-yard plunge by Sims and a 60-yard interception return by Alvin Hall.

Sims rushed for a career single-game high of 185 yards. By contrast, Denver's attack was mostly in the air, with Morton throwing for more than 280 yards.

Detroit took the opening kickoff and drove to the Denver 42 before being forced to punt. The Broncos, following a penalty for running into the kicker, were backed up to their own 4.

But on the second play from scrimmage, Morton completed a pass to Steve Watson, who was streaking through the Detroit secondary on an angle route. Watson broke free and raced the rest of the way for a 59-yard touchdown.

The Broncos followed their first touchdown with a field goal by Steinfelt.

Briefly in sports

Packer chief loses power

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Green Bay Packers President Dominic Olejniczak kept his title and gained a new one, but was stripped of most of his powers Sunday by the team's board of directors.

Olejniczak, 73, retained the position of president and was named to the newly created post of chairman of the club by the directors, who gave many of the club's executive powers to Judge Robert J. Farina, the club's vice president.

There had been reports earlier in the week Olejniczak would either step down or be removed as president.

Ovett wins final mile run

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — Britain's Steve Ovett won his final mile of the season Sunday on a rain-soaked grass track and still managed a respectable 3:58.8.

Ovett beat Australian miller Michael Hillard by about three meters after taking the lead on the final bend.

The race brought down the curtain on Ovett's 1981 season, which ended with the British runner holding world records at 1,500 meters and two miles.

Ovett said he wanted to put running out of his mind for a short time — and head off on a honeymoon to Bali with his wife, Rachel.

Hwan-Jin keeps ring title

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — World Boxing Association junior flyweight champion Kim Hwan-Jin of South Korea Sunday scored a 15-round decision over Panamanian challenger Alfonso Lopez in Taejon, a provincial city.

Before a 10,000 crowd packed into the Choongmu Gymnasium, the 26-year-old Korean champion earned the edge with his lunging blows to the challenger's face.

Referee Waldemar Schmidt of Puerto Rico scored the fight 145-144 for Kim. American judge Richard Steel also carded it for the Korean champion at 145-142, but another American judge, Tony Perez, called it a draw at 143 each.

McGuire takes marathon

DETROIT (UPI) — Michael McGuire of Ann Arbor, Mich., won an international marathon in 2:15:47 Sunday, outpacing nearly 5,000 entrants in the nation's sixth largest marathon.

The marathon started at Jackson Park in Windsor, Ontario, crossed the U.S.-Canada border at the Detroit-Windsor Tunnel and proceeded through Detroit and three suburbs before ending at Detroit's island park — Belle Isle.

Waltrip wins national 500

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — Darrell Waltrip, seemingly unstoppable in his bid for his first NASCAR Grand National championship, finished a comfortable 31.7 seconds ahead of Bobby Allison Sunday to win the National 500 stock car race.

It was Waltrip's third straight victory and 11th of the season.

Waltrip, driving a new Buick, took the lead on lap 274 of the 334-lap race, and built up a five-second lead over Allison before he insured the win at the 1.5-mile Charlotte Motor Speedway with a pit stop.

Allison had a chance to get back into contention on lap 316 when Tim Richmond blew an engine and the field went under caution. Allison and Waltrip both pitted, but Allison had trouble with a tire change and went a lap down.

Camas cops volleyball win

CAREY — Staging an impressive comeback, Camas County won the Northside Conference Junior Varsity volleyball tournament Saturday night.

The Musers defeated Richfield in the championship match, 7-15, 15-5 and 15-13, overcoming a 12-4 deficit in the decisive third game. Camas County tied the score at 13 and went on to win.

Camas County reached the finals by defeating Dietrich, 15-9, 9-15 and 15-6. Richfield made the championship by outlasting Carey, 8-15, 15-10 and 15-13.

Dietrich won the consolation match, beating Carey 15-13 and 15-7.

WBA to toast champs during world meeting

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI) — The 60th annual convention of the World Boxing Association gets under way Monday for a meeting in which tributes will be paid to world champions at a star-studded banquet.

WBA President Rodrigo Sanchez of Panama said heavyweight champion Mike Weaver and middleweight titleholder Marvin Hagler were already in Santo Domingo, while featherweight champ Eusebio Pedroza was due Monday night.

These champs and others are to be the guests of honor at a banquet Friday night.

Sanchez discounted speculation that former promoter Harold J. Smith might show up to testify, saying Smith has a hearing Wednesday in Illinois and, anyway, "to accept him as a witness would be an insult to whoever has to listen to him. This man has no moral authority to say anything."

Sanchez called the meeting's agenda "routine." He said the top item on the agenda was the further study of changes to the by-laws begun at the last meeting in San Juan, Puerto Rico, last year.

This year's meeting includes no elections, and Sanchez discounted reports that the rules might be changed to force an election designed to oust him.

"There's nothing about that in the agenda," he said. "What would happen to an organization that changed its by-laws every time a group of delegates wants to?"

Love Sign takes Beldame Stakes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Love Sign repeated her performance in last year's Beldame Stakes and joined forces with Bill Shoemaker, the nation's winningest jockey, Sunday to carry off the 43rd running of the $200,000 classic at Belmont Park by a sweeping seven-length margin.

Shoemaker and the 4-year-old daughter of Spanish Riddle led from post-to-post and never looked back as they trounced the seven-horse field in a time of 2:01.45 to equal the stakes record set by Cum Laude Laurie in 1977.

Jameela, ridden by Jeff Fell, duelled down the stretch with Glorious Song, under Jorge Velasquez, to finish in a dead heat for second.

It was Love Sign's second straight triumph in the 1 1/4-mile event, making the Sidney Watters-trained filly the first to accomplish that feat since Desert Vixen in 1973 and 1974.

For Shoemaker, it was the second straight victory in the feature race at Belmont. On Saturday, he rode John Henry to a narrow win in the $568,400 Jockey Club Gold Cup.

Love Sign, second choice by the crowd of 23,103, returned $6.60, $2.60 and $2.40 in adding the winner's share of $131,100 to her earnings. Jameela paid $2.40 and $2.80 for her share of second and Glorious Song paid $2.20 and $3.00.

Tales of 1980 Olympics match was won by France over the United States. The match was close and the bridge excellent."

Alan: "France took an early lead. Here is one of the early boards. The bidding in the box is what took place when France held the East-West cards. West's three-card opening was a typical effort to take advantage of the favorable vulnerability to start some action. North bid four clubs and the French East doubled. The American had to get out of the match and eventually landed in four spades. East might have doubled, but he feared that a double would give away an important trick. As it passed, West was happy to pick up 200 points for a two-trick set."

Oswald: "The bidding started the same way at the other table. But instead of doubling four clubs, our player bid five clubs. If Mari of France had tried five diamonds, the French would have been incurred a loss, but elected to double five clubs and pick up 500 points for the three-trick set. This gave France a 12 IMP gain on the board and since the final margin was only 20 IMPs it was most important."
